

DISPLAY DEVICE WITH A MARKING BOARD

Abstract

A display device includes a display and a display base. The display base includes a housing and a marking board installed inside the housing and connected to the housing in a detachable manner. The marking board is detachable, and can be swapped by users for using a personal mark. The display base also includes a luminous module installed inside the housing of the display base for lighting the marking board.